WAYNFLETE ACADEMIC: PSYCHOLOGY

Magdalen College School, Oxford, founded by William Waynflete in 1480 is one of the country's leading independent schools. Each year we employ a small number of graduates, doctoral and post-doctoral researchers in a part time capacity, to provide up-to-date, scholarly and expert knowledge as part of our Waynflete Studies programme. Recent appointees have found the role fits well alongside their current research commitments.

We are looking to appoint a Waynflete Academic in Psychology for the duration of the school year 2018-2019. The focus of the role involves supervising a small group of pupils throughout the year to write their own independent Waynflete Studies project. Sessions take place weekly on a Thursday.

The salary for Waynflete Academics is £21,000 per annum (full-time equivalent) and it is likely that the Psychology Academic would be appointed for the equivalent of between half and one day per week. The precise nature of the role will be shaped to fit the strengths of the candidate appointed, with other potential responsibilities including assistance with university preparation, offering enrichment activities for the most able pupils and arranging talks by visiting speakers

Those interested should complete the application form for Teaching Staff, which is available via: <http://www.mcsoxford.org/senior-school/vacancies> and email this across with a cv and covering letter to the Recruitment Officer, Mrs Sarah Hunter(shunter@mcsoxford.org) as soon as possible.

Magdalen College School is committed to the safeguarding of pupils, and the successful candidate will be required to undergo statutory safeguarding checks before the commencement of his/her employment.
